The first historical kingdoms that emerged in the Indus valley include Gandhāra, and the Ror dynasty of Sauvīra. The Indus River came to the knowledge of the western world at the beginning of the classical period, when King Darius of Persia sent his Greek subject Scylax of Caryanda to explore the river, c. 515 BC. Etymology and names This river was known by the ancient Indians in Sanskrit as Sindhu and the Persians as Hindus, which was regarded by both as "the border river"[10][11][12][13] The variation between the two names is explained by the sound change of the Old Iran *s > h, which occurred between 850 and 600 BC, according to Asko Parpola.[14][15] [17] The name India is derived from Indus.[19] Natively, this river is also known as Meheran. [1] The Ladakhis and Tibetans call him Senge Tsampo, Baltis calls him Gemtsuh and Tshu-Fo, Pashtuns calls him Nilab, Sher Darya and Abbasin, while Sindhis calls him Purali and Samundar. [20] The modern name in Urdu and Hindi is Sindh (Urdu: سندھ, Hindi: न. ु.), a semi-learned loan from Sanskrit. [21] Description The course of the Indus in the disputed Kashmir region; the river flows through Ladakh and Gilgit-Baltistan, administered respectively by India and Pakistan The Indus River provides key water resources for the Pakistan economy - especially the flyer of the province of Punjab, which accounts for most of the country's agricultural production, and Sindh. The word Punjab means "land of five rivers" and the five rivers are Jhelum, Chenab, Ravi, Beas and Sutlej, all of which finally flow to the Indus. Indus also supports many heavy industries and provides the main supply of drinking water inThe final source of Indo is in Tibet; The river begins at the confluence of the Sengge Zangbo and Gar Tsangpo rivers that drain the Nganglong Kangri and Gangdose Shan (Gang Rinpoche, Mt. Kailash) Mountain Ranges. The going entertains to the northwest through Ladakh (Caxemira administered by ā ndia) and Baltistā and Gilgit (Pakistan Caxemira), south of the Karakoram mountain range. The SHYOK, Shigar and Gilgit rivers carry glacial water to the main river. Gradually folds to the south and goes down to Punjab's planet in Kalabagh, Pakistan. The Industry Gigantic Gorges 4,500 - 5,200 meters (15,000 - 17,000 pages) depth near Nanga Varbat's sick. It flows rapidly through Hazara and is dammed in the Tarbela Reservoir. The Cabul River joins close to Attock. The rest of its route to the sea is in the Punjab plans [22] and Sindh, where the flow of the river becomes slow and highly lock. It is accompanied by Panjnad in Mithankot. In addition to this confluence, the river, at the same time, was named the Satnad River (Sat = "Seven", Nadan Á "←" River "), as the river now carried the river river, the river, the river Industry and the five punjab rivers. Passing through Jamschoro, he ends in a large delta south of Thatta, in Sindh's provision, in the Pakistan, the one of the few rivers in the world to display a sea hole. The industry system widely fed by snow and Himalayan glaciers, karakoram and Kushi's Hindu tracks. The flow of the river is also determined by the ways - it decreases a lot in winter, while flooding its margins in the months of the monsters, from July to September. There are also evidence of a constant change in the course of the river since the time pronounces - it has deviated west from flowing to the kutch rann and the adjacent pastures of Banni aphas the 1816 earthquake. [23] [24] Currently, the industry flower flows to the Kutch Rann during its flooding floods.
